Environmental Policy

At Forged Drilling Company Ltd., we are committed to ensuring that our business is conducted with the utmost care and respect for the environment. A formal Environment Management Program is in place and operating at our head office and with all of our drilling rigs.

All employees have a role in minimizing environmental impacts, utilizing resources efficiently, and reducing waste. We encourage innovation in environmental sustainability by improving environmental awareness and program participation of employees.

The company will keep up-to-date on changes in environmental legislation and other environmental practices to which it subscribes. We will implement systems to meet or exceed these requirements, and where possible, strive for constructive relationships with appropriate regulatory authorities.

We will evaluate our practices with the goal of continual improvement and reduction of environmental risk. We will work with our customers to achieve similar objectives.
